Plan Highway From City to Prince Rupert

By THOMAS WAYLING
Edmonton Bulletin Staff Writer
OTTAWA, March 6.—Highway communication between Prince Rupert, B.C., and Edmonton via the Alaska highway at Fort St.
John, is engaging the attention of the ministry of mines and resources, with national defence headquarters in consultation and the U.S. Northwest command also interested.

Communication from Prince Rupert to connect with the Alaska highway would be of great strategic as well as economic value. The road has already been completed from Prince Rupert to Terrace and on to Cedarvale and the Cedarvale-Ki-wanga Gap is now under construction.
From Kluwan to Hazelton
Smithers, Vanderhoof and Prince George contracts have been let and work is underway with some sections completed.

CAP REMAINS

From Prince Rupert to Fort St.
John via Hudson Hope is still a gap will under discussion. Various authorities concerned. Completion of this gap with the building of the Cedarvale-Kiwanga Gap will bring Prince Rupert within the direct orbit of the Alaska highway communications. The road from Prince Rupert to road right through to Edmonton via Dawson Crane, Grande Prairie and the Peace River.

Details of the projects cannot be published for military reasons, but the ministry of mines and resources and national defence are in the closest co-operation, with the U.S.
Northwest command and the U.S. armed forces to the government's plan for these communications.

King to Receive Debt Delegation

OTTAWA, March 6.—(CP)— Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the House of Commons today that the government will receive a western delegation to discuss farm debt on March 15.

Mr. King said he had indicated an opportunity might be given for discussion of farm debt early in the coming week but later he said he had written a letter to Mr. John Maynard of Edmonton, chairman of the inter-provincial farm debt committee, stating there had been a conference of farm organizations and representatives of the federal government and the federal government was considering the question of obtaining adequate debt legislation.

The government felt that any statement to be made should be reserved until after the delegation had been heard, and this statement the western group would present.

dangerous enemy salient before the war.

If the offensive can be sustained, the Allies might be able to drive a wedge between the northern and southern Axis forces in Tunisia, cutting all the way across to Sousse.

Sousse, heavily battered by Allied air attacks in recent weeks,

Rommel has been using to feed his offensive to his forces in Front dispatches said that British forces after driving the Germans from Sed Janne in a bitter street fight, had evacuated the town of Pichon Thursday and taken up positions covering Tamer, eight miles west of Sed Janne.

At 8:30 a.m. yesterday the Ger-contact with the imperialists.

Airman From Wetaskwin Tells Of Colossal Explosion at Essen

By ALLAN NICKLESON
LONDON, March 6.—(CP)—A colossal explosion that sent flames hundreds of feet into the air and lighted the entire target area was revealed by grim Canadian airmen after their return today from raiding the R.A.F. blast Essen, greatest armament centre in the Ruhr.

The spectacular scene lighted up the interior of aircraft at bombing height and observers held the explosion occurred in a powder factory or ammunition dump of the enormous Krupp concern which employs 175,000 workers.

Members of the R.C.A.F. bombing group flying Halifaxes and Welingtons, and other Canadian flying in R.A.F. Lancasters, said that 400-ton bombs were dropped from a height of 10,000 feet, and concentrated fire visible 100 miles.
In a statement supported by other crews at interrogation of the R.C.A.F. squadrons, P.T. Sgt. Bill Beavo, 24, of Wetaskwin, Alta., gave the best account of the extraordinary blast.

"With my eyes glued to the bombsight, I watched several explosions on my radar. I was amazed to see the most terrific explosion I have ever experienced on any raid," he said.
"It appeared to have been a 400-ton bomb going off and I think it must have hit a powder factory or ammunition dump. It lighted up the whole target, sending flames hundreds of feet into the air."

Among other officers of the R.C.A.F.
bombing group was P.O. R. G.
Ripin, of Edmonton.

Other Canadian bombers were among the missing planes.

Hundreds of Planes Blast German City

LONDON, March 6.—(AP)—Hundreds of British and Canadian bombers, carrying the Allied pre-invasion aerial offensive through its 10th consecutive night, loaded a thunderbolt

Premier Cries Debate as Social Security Committee Approved Without Division

OTTAWA, March 6.—(CP)—The House of Commons last night approved without a division a motion to set up a house committee to study a plan of social insurance.

Approval followed debate participated in by more than a score of members and was concluded by Prime Minister Mackenzie King who said that if an amendment to the British North America Act were held necessary it could be obtained quickly from the British parliament.

The house sat one hour and 10 minutes later than usual on a Friday night to wind up debate on the motion to establish the committee.

MANY SPEAKERS

Speakers in addition to the prime minister were New Democratic Leader Blackmore, Angus MacInnis (C.F.C. Vancouver East), Anthony Hlynka (N.D. Vancouver), Rodney Adamson (Prog. Con. York West), Norman Rogers (N.D. Camrose), H. H. Bruce (C.P. Con. Toronto), Mackenzie King, Stanley Edwards (Lib. Calgary West) and Alfred Bess (C.P. Con. Saskatoon City).

Mr. King said the government had been criticized for not bringing down a specific bill for health insurance, but he had realized that no matter what the administration did it would be subject to criticism.

There was in Canada a large mass of social insurance legislation and because there was no central authority there was a great deal of overlapping and the large "blanks" in the legislation in inefficiency of effort. That fact, and the evidence that there was to be more such legislation, was reason for an attempt to bring their efforts together in one national organization.

It did not necessarily follow that a national plan would require all effort, centralization in Ottawa nor that there should be separate legislative bodies in each province, but there could be a co-operative and co-ordinated effort.

PLAID BY LIBERALS
Mr. King spoke of references by Progressive Conservative members to this original proposal as soon after similar proposals were urged at the Conservative convention in Winnipeg last December. References had also been made to similar proposals in the national Liberal party convention platform at the last party convention in 1939.

This gave him an opportunity to point out that the present proposal had its origin at the 1939 Liberal convention and not at the Conservative convention in December. The Liberal party was the first in this part of the world to advocate social security and health insurance, the prime minister said, and he personally had drafted that section of the 1939 platform.

It included old age pensions and a Liberal government had initiated these pensions in 1926, also unemployment insurance which had been initiated eventually by a Liberal government.

It was true also that most social security measures were introduced by the provinces but had been put through by Liberal administrations.

The Liberal party in 1939 knew it could not give effect at once to its social security measures in that they would be carried over a number of years.

WILL CONTINUE POLICY
"We have carried them into effect in a large measure and will continue to do so," he declared.

Regarding jurisdictional obstacles Mr. King said the amendment of the British North America Act offered no difficulties as had been proven in the case of the Unemployment Insurance Act.

It had to be done by consultation with the provinces and that was the right way to go about it.

Any government that attempted to "ride roughshod" over the provinces would not get far in these matters. But they had no anticipation that there would be difficulty in obtaining co-operation of the provinces in the measures now proposed.

Mr. King said he did not believe there was any country in the world

Daily War Map—Exclusively in The Edmonton Bulletin

On the above map we have attempted to show the general plan of Russian strategy as it now appears to be unfolding. The Russians speak of double-envelopment operations, which might be interpreted either as a local affair or as a very large scale plan. Judged by the scope of Russian operations since the November offensive began in the south, it seems more likely that Timoshenko is evolving a gigantic plan which will result in the segregation of whole armies of enemy troops. As suggested on the map, such a manoeuvre would stem from Velikiye Luki and the line between Velikiye Luki and Staraya Russa. The other force would drive westward to the Gulf of Riga, cutting the Warsaw-Leningrad railway, while the other swung southward to meet the Russian armies moving north and westward of Orel.

Strong German Naval Forces Off Trondheim

Reuter as commander in chief of the German navy with Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, known as a mercenary, fighting admiral, was seen as the tip-off that the German navy was swinging over to the offensive.

A further indication was Doenitz's well-revealed purge of conservative, old-line German naval commanders and their replacement with younger, more offensive-minded officers.

Mr. Edwards said that while he agreed with the suggestion for a committee he had doubts concerning operation of a social security plan because of the constitutional difficulties involved in implementing such a scheme. It had taken 20 years of effort to overcome the constitutional barriers in establishing a national unemployment insurance act.

His immediate concern was that the people's mind might be diverted from the problem of winning the war.

There should not be undue concern over safety or security at home when the best of Canada's men and women were throwing their lives into the winds in the war.

Mr. Edwards said the Canadian people had built a canal system in eastern Canada through which wheat and other goods were shipped with no added costs, due to freight charges on the goods they carried. The government could have Manitoba and Ontario together by establishing a "railway canal" by taking over and nationalizing a 1,000-mile stretch of railways. The Canadian people could assume the cost of operation, and charges for transmission could be removed from the movement of goods between east and west.

New U.S. Warship Is Now in Action Against U-Boats

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(AP)—A new U.S. warship, equipped with all anti-submarine weapons known to science, a new type of machine is flying the American flag ready to battle the U-boat menace.

Known as a "DDE" or destroyer escort, the new craft is somewhat of a cross between the famous British and Canadian Corvettes and the larger destroyer.

The navy said it has a displacement of 1,200 tons, a waterline length of about 200 feet and a beam of from 35 to 36 feet. That is approximately the size of destroyers of the first Great War.

Garson Anticipates Spread of Illegal Traffic in Liquor
WINNIPEG, March 6.—(CP)—Premier Stuart S. Garson said in the Manitoba legislature yesterday that with the rationing of liquor a month reduced to what a permit holder formerly could purchase in a single day, the government expects a recurrence of illegal traffic. The monthly ration is 36 ounces.

If bootlegging occurs, "we shall make plans to deal" with the offenders.

Mr. Garson made his observations when explaining the proposed agreement under which the Dominion government will protect provincial liquor revenues at the level they were for the 12-month period ending June 30, 1942.

Famous Baseball Veteran Passes
BUFFALO, N.Y., March 6.—(AP)—James J. (Jimmy) Collins, 73, one of baseball's greatest, third baseman and manager of the 1903 Boston Red Sox, first team to win a world series, died today of pneumonia in a Buffalo hospital.

Lack of Routes Delays Sending Army to China

By REUEL S. MOORE

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(AP)—Communications virtually rule out the possibility of dispatching an expeditionary force to China, military observers believed today.

The call for an A.E.F. to China was made in New York yesterday by Mr. Chiang Kai-Shek.

Communications—or rather their absence—is the dominating factor in the decision to send an expeditionary force to China, military observers believed today.

Whether the United States sends more planes and men to support the Chinese, a ground force expedition such as Mr. Chiang's suggestion implied, such aid would have to go by air.

Air transport assigned to that route is steadily increasing, but it could be multiplied several times and still not be able to carry an appreciable part of the war materials pouring out of factories in America and Britain.

Should Britain regain control of Burma, the air route would be greatly eased. The other 20,000 Chinese, and more air routes established. But even the Burma Road is in a tenuous and its capacity limited.

Should the American forces in the southwest Pacific be able to force a lane through the East

Nazis Commander Brussels Hospitals

LONDON, March 6.—(CP)—Brussels hospitals have been commandeered by the Germans to care for large numbers of wounded soldiers.

Indies to the China coast a real opportunity to send an expeditionary force and important supplies to China would develop.

But before that could be accomplished a long offensive from Australia through the various islands would have to be carried out. It would mean fighting on many of the East Indies such as has occurred in the Solomon and New Guinea. This at best would seem a long process.

Delay Induction

MIAMI, Fla., March 6.—(AP)—Jockey Alf Robertson would have three more months of civil life because his leg was broken last year in a racing slip. Army doctors who examined the rider when he reported for induction at Camp Blending decided a delay would be beneficial.

Pay-As-You-Go Plan Approved By House

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(AP)—The House of representatives yesterday approved a pay-as-you-go plan which Chairman Jere Cooper (Dem., Tex.) said would make current virtually all the country's $4,000,000 income taxpayers, beginning July 1.

The subcommittee by-passed a decision as to whether all or part of one year's income taxes would be shifted to ease the transition to a current basis, leaving this knotty problem to the full committee, which meets Monday.

THE PROBLEM of civilians injured in bombing raids on British cities past or present, is a pitiable one. Women, children have lost arms, legs, the sight of their eyes. Many will require hospital care for years. Scores will be crippled, helpless for life. Hundreds are homeless—look upon you whose sacred motto is to help.

These people upon whom the cruel fury of war has been unleashed, look upon you whose sacred motto is to help. The 857,000 members of the Junior Red Cross have done much to relieve this suffering. They maintain 14 War Nurseries in England. But so much remains to be done. Will you help them in the dark hours of pain, suffering and hardship.

The Red Cross must have your support on their behalf—on behalf, too, of suffering humanity in Greece, Russia, China and other peoples of the United Nations; of seamen rescued from the cruel Atlantic, of Canadian and British boys in enemy prison camps. ## Major And Minor Notes

By John Oliver

ENCOURAGING tidings have come to hand regarding the progress and development of the orchestra organized by Mrs. James B. Carmichael at St. John's High school. Still under one year old, this group is practicing steadily. Numerically there is a distinct improvement, with total strength now standing at 32. In recent weeks there has been added to the group a number of brass and percussion players, which gives considerably more volume, as well as color, to the performances. The additions include JOHN OLIVER, trombone and one drum. Mrs. Carmichael spoke enthusiastically about the orchestra. She stated that the players are taking a genuine interest in it and are turning out regularly, and faithfully for rehearsals. The string and woodwind sections were warm praise, with the more recent additions, with experience in the Schoolboy Band, are rapidly being assimilated into the whole.

Already this orchestra has appeared in public, making its association with a stage production at St. John's High school. A second series of public appearances has been scheduled for late this month, when Victoria High school will present its annual play, March 24, 25, 26 and 27. The orchestra, however, will appear only on the last two nights, Friday and Saturday, so that the players will not be up late on nights that are followed by school days. On March 24 and 25 music will be provided by a trio consisting of Mrs. Phyllis MacLean, Constance Gagner and Mrs. C. G. Elmist.

As has been said in this column before, and which cannot be repeated too often, or too strongly, the welfare of this orchestra merits unrestrained support of the school authorities and general public. Pre-war economic depression and the instability of men and women as a result of war service have resulted in a deplorable lack of orchestral playing. The surest way of insuring orchestral playing in the future is to develop the personnel that makes it possible.

In Great Britain and the United States, the school orchestra movement has expanded by leaps and bounds in recent years, thus providing the basic orchestral training for the players—at least some of whom—some day will be heard in the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra, the London Symphony Orchestra, and other major organizations.

Until such time as this city can support a symphony orchestra, or a large orchestral body, and that time seems further away than one care to contemplate, it seems as though we must develop our own instrumentalists. If we are to continue to have our local opera productions, concerts and choral works with orchestral accompaniment, then we must spare no effort to give every possible encouragement to the development of instrumentalists.

It is fortunate that Mrs. Carmichael is available to take the interest she does, in developing such an orchestra as that at St. John's High. She possesses the training and the practical experience for the task. As a professional musician she won laurels as a violinist, solo and chamber artist, as conductor, and as soprano soloist. Now that she is devoting herself to the general welfare of music it is to be hoped that she will receive all necessary encouragement to develop orchestral players.

In the meantime the Edmonton Civic Opera Society, of which Mrs. Carmichael is general musical director, is resting on its laurels. It was announced previously in this column, the projected production in April of Rudolf Friml's comedy opera, "The Firefly," has been cancelled, and there will be no further stage effort by this group until next fall. However, consideration is being given to work of another kind which will occupy the company in the interval.

Mrs. Ernest Meaden, manager of the Women's Musical Club Celebrity Series of Concerts, stated Saturday that the prospectus for the 24th-44 series would be ready for mailing in three weeks, at which time she expects to be able to announce the six artists who will take part. Although the names of the artists are not yet available, her advice from Fred M. Gee, Winnipeg concert impresario, who works in association with the Musical Club in sponsoring the concerts, are that there will be an impressive array of talent.

The University Musical Club will present its final program of the current season at Convention Hall at 9 p.m. Sunday. In addition to presenting several musicians who will be known around the campus, the club will sponsor the appearance of Mr. Ella Caggie King, formerly of Calgary, whose husband now is a member of the university faculty and is executive assistant to Dr. Robert Newton, the president. King is a contralto and at last year's bertha music festival, she won the St. John's Club, open to all gold medalists in the current or previous festivals.

The program will be as follows: Organ, Minuet in F Major, Bach and Introduction and Passacaglia from Sonata No. 8, by Rheinberger, played by Prof. L. H. Nichols. University Choir under Jack Williams, with Bert Wilkins as accompanist, will sing into the Woods My Master Went, by Lew Rogers, and Evening Pastoral by Wilfred Shaw. The Braver Heart, May Swenson from "Faust" by Gounod. Where You Walk, by Handel, and I Love Life, by Mana-Zucca, with Malcolm Clark, baritone as the soloist, and Miss Lucy Gainer as accompanist. Two songs, Singing Weeping, from Canzona No. 21, by Bach, transcribed for two pianos by R. Berkowitz, and Les Deux Pains, including La Trinitaire and Credo by Milhaud, by Germaine Tailleferre and played by Misses Lucy Gainer and Nella Faulkner. On the Steep, by Gertrude Stein, My Mother Bids Me Bury My Hair, Haydn, and the aria O Don Fausto, by Giuseppe Verdi, sung by Mrs. Ella Caggie King, and with Victor Graham at the piano.

When the Kiwanis Club gives a concert at the Strand theatre March 14 in aid of the Navy League, there will be assisting, an 11-piece orchestra under the direction of Cecil Cameron. Some of the best-known and most skilled instrumentalists will be in the ensemble, and the Kiwanians are assured of splendid orchestral support.

Good work is being accomplished by the Edmonton branch of the Alberta Music Teachers' Association, and affiliated groups throughout the west, in preparing a list of local composers, with their works, and organizations desiring to obtain information on music composed here, and also it will show that there is a greater abundance of creative talent than is generally known. G. A. Kavan, organist and choirman, of the St. John's United church, is interesting himself in the compilation of material.

The junior choir of Norwood United church at 8:15 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, March 18 and 19, will present an operetta in three acts entitled "The Cobbler of Fairland," by Robert B. Kavan, with Leslie Phillips, and Leslie Phillips, the dramatic director. There will be a piano accompanist, and a vocal soloist.

War Workers presented a group of her pupils in recital at her home in Norwood on Monday evening.

OTTAWA, March 6.—(CP)—The liquor problem in the Northwest Territories and the Yukon is the shortage of supplies, a Northwest Territories official said yesterday. # "Journey for Margaret" Film of London Blitz

Picture Gives Evidence Red Cross Victorious Over War's Tragedies

By WALTER P. WILSON

"Journey for Margaret," a heart-warming film story of the poignant striving for the mental recovery and future happiness of two of the thousands of children orphaned by the London blitz, opens at the Capitol Theatre on Monday of next week.

Shown at a private screening before the film is shown to the public, "Journey for Margaret" impressed everyone with its vivid reminder that every penny given to the Red Cross in their present campaign meant less suffering for the unfortunate victims of the present tragedy.

Members of the Red Cross found personal interest in the film because the Junior Red Cross operates 14 such war nurseries in London, and that time seems further away than one care to contemplate, it seems as though we must develop our own instrumentalists. If we are to continue to have our local opera productions, concerts and choral works with orchestral accompaniment, then we must spare no effort to give every possible encouragement to the development of instrumentalists.

"Journey for Margaret"

I would like to recommend that as many as possible of our friends and co-workers throughout Canada see the picture "JOURNEY FOR MARGARET." I am recommending this because, besides being one of the highest rated entertainment pictures of the season, it has a particular message and interest to Red Cross people.

This picture is based on the popular novel by the well-known war correspondent, W. L. White, showing the conditions in Britain arising from war and particularly the effect on the children. Our Canadian Junior Red Cross, as you know, is maintaining a list of children in Britain at the present time. This picture depicts in a very wonderful and tender way what these nursery men to children tragically deprived of fathers and mothers, often bomb-shocked, requiring deep human understanding of mind and spirit wounds as well as physical needs.

There is a heart reaction on you as you see, you will want to place it among your treasured memories and you will find it of help to you in better realization of the present and post-war problems facing the Red Cross.

GIVE TO RELIEVE HUMAN SUFFERING

It is the credit of its director, the late W. S. Van Dyke, that it emerges at this time as a beautiful tender and appealing film of selflessly high merit. It is not the greatest of war pictures, but it is a treatment of the war that has not previously been applied to the fullest of its possibilities—that is the plight of children who have been born into a world of fire and bombs and know little else. A few months ago "The Little Prince" did not seem quite so good, but it is in a long and remunerative career in the movies, provided she is not a knockout blow early in her pre-adulthood by a series of bad series. It is said that the production of this, her first "big" film, she so amazed her own directors by her prompt reaction to the reaction and by her apparent understanding of the psychological background of her role that she threw them off their stride and made them "bite their lips."

If the story from which this film was adapted had not appeared as a best-seller several months ago, you would have sworn that it was tailored to Margaret O'Brien's measure. But this is William L. White's own story of his experiences in

Alberta Health Services Head America House Of Tomorrow

Minister Reviews Reforms Established by Government, Outlines Needs for Future

Alberta has gone farther in providing health services for curative medicine than any other province or state in America, Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of public health, told the legislature Wednesday. He also said that starting with the first of August of this year, the government proposes to provide free hospitalization for all surgical cancer cases referred by the cancer clinic for surgical treatment.

Saw Today

Dr. Cross was speaking in the budget debate, and was discussing state medicine and health insurance.

Referring to Alberta's record in providing health services for curative medicine, Dr. Cross said in 1936 the government took over the cost of hospitalization and medical treatment of all pulmonary tuberculosis cases.

DEATHS REDUCED
This has resulted in a great reduction in the number of deaths from this disease, he said.

Prior to the passing of the Tuberculosis Act in 1936, the cost of treatment (on the individual or the municipality, which resulted in the patient not receiving treatment for fear of incurring debt.

This, Dr. Cross said, greatly increased his chances for recovery, and increased the danger of others contracting the disease.

"Now the cost is spread over the province as a whole," he said.

In 1938 the government passed the Polioymyeltis Sufferers' Act, under which we provided hospitalization for medical treatment for all polio cases after the acute stage over, and we also provided for the training of those who are partially disabled, by teaching them a suitable trade.

"In nearly every case, they become self-supporting," Dr. Cross said.

The Kenny treatment of "polio" now being used in Alberta, he said, and it is believed the treatment is producing better results than other treatments used.

There were only six cases of the disease in Alberta in 1942, and in four of these patients was involved. The Kenny method is being used for all cases of the disease, he said.

"Since passing the Cancer Act in 1936, the government has given to provide free treatment for all curable cases of cancer, 3,152 cases were treated through provincial clinics, of which a cancer diagnosis was made in 2,100 of these cases."

"To date, 1,370 have received free treatment with radium, deep X-ray, and surgery. Of 1,370 treated, 1,100 were cured, a cure has been obtained in 1,080 cases, approximately 80 per cent of those treated," he said.

Health insurance, or state medicine, is an urgent necessity if we are to have a worthwhile post-war world, Dr. Cross said.

"If the new order is going to guarantee social security for all."

Plans Campaign

Beverages' Substitutes

May Cause Illness or Result in Blindness

Flavoring extracts are admirably suited to puddings and cakes, having long been used on the face, and hair tonic, a life-saver to the fellow with falling hair, but taken as a substitute for alcoholic beverages they may result in serious illness, and even blindness and death.

During the last month there has been an increase in the sales of rubbing alcohol, flavoring extracts and after-shave lotions and hair tonics. So marked has been this increase that the police are now taking careful check of sales, and no repeat orders are filled when there is the least suspicion that the purchase is made for purposes other than that which the article was manufactured for.

Dr. G. M. Little, city medical health officer, stated Saturday that continued use of these substitutes for recreational alcoholic beverages would result in serious health impairment, and that continued drinking of them would affect every organ of the body, and that they were apt to produce death or blindness when taken internally in large amounts.

Recruit Drive

Will Commence In Two Weeks

With mass invasions of Europe virtually certain for the coming summer, Canada's army, both active and reserve, must be at full fighting strength and the top notch of efficiency.

This was the feeling prevailing at a dinner meeting of Edmonton recruiting officers, held at the Prince of Wales Armory Friday night.

The recruiting officers, Maj. J. Howard Gainer, M.C., district recruiting officer for M.D. 13, and Capt. John Wilson, senior public relations officer for the district, outlined plans for a concerted drive for recruits for all branches of the army in this district.

The drive will start in about two weeks.

The great importance of an efficient reserve force, at full strength, was stressed.

CONCENTRATE ON RESERVE

The drive will concentrate on bringing the reserve army up to full strength. The same efforts will go forth in recruiting for the Veterans' Guard of Canada in this area, and also for the Canadian Women's Army Corps.

Lt. Col. E. Brown, M.M., E.D., area commander, presided at the meeting.

Maj. Gainer and Capt. Wilson returned to Calgary after the meeting.

Minister Suggests Committee Action

By Canadian Press
Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, raising a point of privilege in the legislative process, charged that all the facts of a meeting of the public accounts committee had not been reported by the Canadian Press. He said that the committee had been informed that the public accounts committee had not been reported by the Canadian Press.

"The minister produced a copy of the newspaper in the assembly and said it contained 'What is promised to be a report on the activities of the public accounts committee.'"

"He then read the newspaper, noting certain charges made against the government by Opposition leader J. C. Mahaffy at Calgary regarding calling of the committee, had been reported in the story, but no mention had been made that these charges had been ruled out of order and stricken from the records of the public accounts committee meeting."

"If the newspaper is responsible for this misquoting, I will move the matter be referred to the committee for its consideration," the minister said.

The news story in which Mr. Fallow objected was a Canadian Press report, but two paragraphs referring to Mr. Mahaffy's remarks being stricken from the record were omitted in the copy of the newspaper which is delivered in Edmonton. The Calgary edition of the newspaper carried the full report, making clear that Mr. Mahaffy's remarks were removed from the record."

"Brighten Your Corner"

THE CONCLUSION of this very helpful book on "Brighten," which has recently come from the pen of Dr. George Burkitt of New York, there is a little word picture of a certain spiritual stalwart who, in the midst of the darkness and desolation of these days, has been able to maintain his faith unimpaired. "What is the secret of your calm endurance?" he was asked. "When the house is dark," he answered, "I do not try to sweep away the darkness with a broom. I light a candle."

There are some dark things in our civilization that yield to the influence and to the light of the physical or spiritual, and that is what every victorious soul has discovered. "I do not try to sweep away the darkness with a broom. I light a candle."
